18. The nazirite shall then shave the consecrated hair, at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, and take those locks of consecrated hair and put them on the fire that is under the sacrifice of well-being. 19. The priest shall take the shoulder of the ram when it has been boiled, one unleavened cake form the basket, and one unleavened wafer, and place them on the hands of the nazirite after the consecrated hair has been shaved. 20. The priest shall elevate them as an elevation offering before the Eternal; and this shall be a sacred donation for the priest, in addition to the breast of the elevation offering and the thigh of gift offering. After that the nazirite may drink wine. 21. Such is the obligation of a nazirite; except that those who vow an offering to the Eternal of what they can afford, beyond their nazirite requirements, must do exactly according to the vow that they have made beyond their obligation as nazirites. 22. The Eternal One spoke to Moses: 23. Speak to Aaron and his sons: Thus shall you bless the people of Israel. Say to them: 24. The Eternal bless you and protect you! 25. The Eternal deal kindly and graciously with you! 26. The Eternal bestow [divine] favor upon you and grant you peace! 27. Thus they shall link My name with the people of Israel, and I will bless them.
There was a man named Manoah from Zorah. He was of a Danite clan, and his wife was barren, never having given birth.

One day an angel of the Eternal appeared to the woman and said to her, “Yes, you are barren and unable [till now] to have children, but you shall be pregnant and give birth to a son.

Take care not to drink wine or beer, or eat anything impure, for you shall soon be pregnant, and give birth to a boy. His hair is never to be cut, because from the womb he is God’s nazirite; he will begin to liberate Israel from the hand of the Philistines.”

The woman went and told her husband, “A man of God came to me; he looked like an angel of God—very frightening. I didn’t ask him where he had come from, and he didn’t tell me his name.

All he said to me was this, “You shall soon be pregnant, and give birth to a boy; you are not to drink wine or beer, nor eat impure food, because the boy shall be God’s nazirite from the womb to the day of his death.”
